Reading Tips

- Read together every day. This is a special time to bond. Bedtime stories are a great way to make reading part of the routine!
- It is never too early to start reading with your child! Infants and young children all benefit from reading with their parent or caregiver.
- Visit the library to choose books to read and take home. Try out new stories and authors. Check for storytimes, programs, and more.
- Point out letters, pictures, and shapes as you read. Ask your child questions about the story and pictures.
- Encourage reading of all kinds. Your child may be interested in fairy tales, nursery rhymes, nonfiction, kids' magazines, comic books, or other reading materials.
- Try out new words in your conversations.
- Don't forget books when you're on-the-go! Bring books or reading materials in the car or to appointments.
